SUSPECT IN TUCSON.

Alex Collie Thought to Be "Bryson."

PRISONER ADMITS HE LEFT LOS ANGELES DAY AFTER TIMES EXPLOSION AND FIRE.

SHOWS FAMILIARITY WITH DY-NAMITE AND HINTS AT RECENT USE OF IT.

LOS ANGELES AUTHORITIES TO GO AFTER MAN, AS THEY KNOW OF HIM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch] Alex Collie, whom the Los Angeles authorities state they believe was implicated in the Times dynamiting tragedy, is being held in the county jail pending the arrival of an officer from the Coast.

He is believed from his description to be Bryson, who obtained the dynamite at Giant, Cal.

Collie was arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge, and does not suspect the real reason for his arrest. Strangers are not admitted to his cell, and only officers and his fellow prisoners talk to him.

Under a gentle and apparently careless cross-examination Collie or Bryson, as he is believed to be, said he was in San Francisco recently, and that he went from there to Los Angeles. He said also that he left Los Angeles on the morning following the Times disaster.

Collie, in another moment, claimed to be thoroughly familiar with dynamite, and intimated that he had used it recently.

This afternoon the Sheriff received a telegram from the Los Angeles authorities indicating that Collie, claiming they had knowledge of the man, and believed him to be one of those wanted.

In overheard conversations with fellow prisoners the officers state Collie seemed very familiar with The Times tragedy, but manifested no especial feeling in the matter.

His description, as sent to Los Angeles, is as follows:

He is 40 years old, is smooth shaven, has dark hair and gray eyes and has a heavy, dark face with short, thick chin, weighs 155 pounds and is of heavy build. His left hand is slightly crippled from what he states was a gunshot wound.

An officer is expected here from Los Angeles tomorrow.

DYNAMITE SUSPECT CAUGHT IN NEVADA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Chief of Police Seymour has received a letter from Battle Mountain, Nev., which identifies a man as Alex Collie, who answers the description of the leader of the trio who purchased the dynamite believed to have been used in blowing up and burning the Times building in Los Angeles. Photographs of the man were enclosed in the letter.

AS TO THE METHOD.

T. R. OPPOSES MR. TAFT ON SWAMP DRAINAGE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) Oct. 10.—Theodore Roosevelt placed himself on record today as opposed to the view expressed by President Taft of one phase of the work of the conserving and developing of the resources of the country.

Col. Roosevelt declared the Government should do all it legitimately could to assist in the reclamation of the great swamp areas of the Mississippi Valley.

In a speech at the National Conservation Congress at St. Paul, Sept. 28, President Taft said he believed the work should be done by the states themselves.

As soon as Col. Roosevelt reached Hot Springs today, Governor Donaghey and several others interested in obtaining help from the Government for the reclamation project, asked him to touch upon the subject in his address at the Arkansas State fair.

Col. Roosevelt promised to do so.

"Arkansas is one of a group of states with an enormous area of swamp land; until drained, the land is worthless; and when drained, it is worth the most valuable land in the entire country."

"The national Government must do its part in helping in the drainage, because the drainage is an interstate affair," Arkansan said.

"What we are straining to do is to secure equal rights, that is, to eliminate special privileges to start all men in the race of life on a reasonable equality."

President Taft expressed a view directly opposite. His words were as follows:

"Suggestions have been made that the United States ought to aid in the drainage of swamp lands belonging to the State private owners. If it is drained, it would be exceedingly valuable for agriculture and contribute to the general welfare by extending the area of cultivation and helping men in the effort of such a reason."

Col. Roosevelt took lunch with Lt. Col. Jack Greenway, of Hot Springs, a "Rough Rider."

He will submit them to the various persons who met the alleged dynamiters while they were in the city in an effort to identify the suspect.

Episcopal Bishops Decide Converted Jews May Continue Ancient Practices With Restrictions.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CINCINNATI, Oct. 10.—The House of Bishops today decided that Jews who or sanitary reasons, but not as a malpractices, providing they do so as a matter of religion.

The bishops also discussed proposals to end the church's canon on marriage and divorce. The matter was made a special order for Thursday. The present canons forbid the re-marriage in the church of divorced persons.

HORRORS INCREASE.

List of Fire Victims May Be Hundreds.

WILD ANIMALS FLEE FOR SAFETY SIDE BY SIDE WITH HUMAN BEINGS.

MOTHERS BURN TO DEATH WITH BABIES; FATHERS DIE SHIELDING CHILDREN.

THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA; NARROW ESCAPES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WINNIPEG (Man.) Oct. 10.—The latest reports from the fires in the Rainy River region of Minnesota tonight increase the horrors of the situation.

Estimates of the number of persons killed range from 75 to 400. Many conservative men place the number at more than 100. But the great concern for the present is the rescue of the helpless and the thousands of homeless men, women and children.

Stories of wild animals, fleeing for safety, side by side with human beings, of mothers burned to death with babies on their backs, and of men cremated while shielding their children, were brought in today.

DRAMATIC ACCOUNT.

The Duluth Express brought many refugees from the scene of conflagration. The engineer of the train said:

"If the fire keeps on the way it is going, there will be mighty little left of the population of that part of Minnesota."

"For miles around Baudette and Spooner, Wis., where there were large tracts of bush, it is now swept clean.

"There have been forests in that part of the country for such a long time that the earth is practically peat and when a tree fell it set fire even to the roots and the earth around the roots.

"From my engine it appeared that every timber mill in the country had been burned, except that of the Shewill-Mattien Company.

"We stopped every little while to look on people, but most of them got off just outside the danger zone so they could go back to what was left of their homes after the fire died down."

WOMAN'S THRILLING TALE.

One of the most thrilling narratives is given by Mrs. Townsend, of War Road, a refugee on the Duluth train. She said:

"Two train loads of people left War Road last night, but we do not know whether they reached a place of safety. The town of Baudette is wholly deserted.

"Everyone in War Road who had a revolver is carrying it. The survivors are desperate and a great deal of vandalism is abroad. Men are robbing women of their jewels.

"If a high wind arises, nothing could save the town of War Road. When we passed through Sprague, Manitoba, we saw the fire had run right up to the Canadian Northern station."

L. E. Foster, of Boston, Mass., came through on the Duluth special.

"If the wind drops, Rainy River will be saved, but otherwise the town is in great danger," he said.

Other refugees tell how wild animals raced wildly about the edge of the fire and then turned and plunged into Rainy River and swam across to safety. There were hundreds of deer, caribou and moose. Cattle fearlessly lay down with the bears, wildcats and timber wolves.

Oscar Johnson, his wife and three children, stood five hours in the Baudette river ducking their heads when the heat became too intense. They say the water in the river was heated to an uncomfortable temperature. When they escaped, it was as though a furnace of dying coals.

REFUGEE TELLS STORY OF LIFE AND DEATH STRUGGLE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] DULUTH (Minn.) Oct. 10.—After being hemmed in in a fire on nearly every side and finally making his escape to the railroad station with an unconscious woman suffering from typhoid fever in his arms, Frank Watson of Baudette, Minn., lives to tell the story. He arrived here today.

"Everything was confusion," he said. "Families became separated in the rush. Women shrieked and children cried. It was anybody for himself among the dead and for a place of safety was like a stampede."

"Women with babies in their arms sank to the ground and were trampled under foot. Some held out their babies and asked that they be taken to a place of safety, knowing they were unable to care for the small ones.

"Men trying to get back to the flames to rescue those who attempted to restrain them. They went into the billows of fire and are numbered among the dead."

HE DOESN'T TARRY.

Prior to coming to Los Angeles to take a position with the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, Evans was a trusted attaché of the accounting department of the Southern Pacific.

"He stated to them that he was going to visit his mother and brother in San Francisco and then go on a hunting trip into the Sierras. His relatives however, declare he never called upon them, and the police believe that he took the Owl for San Diego, and thence lost his way.

Now, however, some one would dive back to the burning districts swearing to save his family or perish.

HEART-BREAKING.

HOPE FADES RAPIDLY.

Watchers at the Pit Mouth in Gloom.

RESCUE PARTY GETS WITHIN NINE HUNDRED FEET OF EXPLOSION VICTIMS.

FINDS WORKERS IN COLORADO MINE BADLY WRECKED AND AIR POISONOUS.

PATHETIC SCENES ON HILLSIDE. MOTHERS, WIVES AND CHILDREN AWAIT NEWS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] STARKSVILLE (Col.) Oct. 10.—The darkness settled tonight over the entrance to the Starkville mine, the hope that had buoyed up the watchers at the pit mouth grew faint and gloom and discouragement settled again over the silent crowd.

This morning the expert miners at the head of the rescue parties were confident that some of the men walled in by the explosion were alive and might be rescued. They believed the portable fan forcing pure air into the workings would keep the men in the extreme southern portion of the mine alive until they could be reached, but as the day rescue party stumbled slowly out of the stopes tonight, one glance at their weary, dust-grimed faces told the watchers that hope was almost gone.

After arduous work in the face of constant peril, the rescue party had penetrated the mine nearly 12,000 feet, or within 900 feet of the men imprisoned nearest the main entrance. At this point, the workings were found badly wrecked and poisonous air was present in quantities. The leaders would not consent to the rescuers going further until sufficient fresh air was fanned in to insure safety.

DOG IS OVERCOME.

Ten thousand feet from the entrance the spot where the fan had been operated before the explosion was badly damaged. The fan was torn to pieces and scattered hundreds of feet.

The 1200-pound motor had been thrown 50 feet. The rescue party was compelled to stop here and make repairs. A dog which had accompanied the party wandered ahead. It was found later stretched upon the floor overcome by afterdamp.

The rescue party took a southerly course toward the spot where the pick men were supposed to have been working Saturday night. Reconnoitering parties of two or three men were sent ahead to test the air. These reported afterdamp was noticeable in all the short cuts and also in the main stopes.

General Manager Weitzel was informed by portable telephone of the conditions. He ordered the men out of the mine until the air could be improved.

BLOWER TO BE INSTALLED.

While the night shift was waiting to be sent inside the mine, a gang was also put to work installing a blower at the mouth of the air shaft which runs parallel with the main stopes. This is an emergency measure to prevent the sudden stoppage of air supply by the failure of the portable fan.

Several times today the fan stopped working. Signal lights flashed the dangerous and men scampered in all directions summoning electricians to correct the trouble. This was one of the dangers that threatened the rescue men throughout the day.

All day long the hills facing the mine were dotted with groups of women and children, relatives and friends of the entombed men. With the appearance of each miner the women would press forward, anxiously questioning him for news. Mothers, unwilling to leave their children at home, and many carrying babies, stood stolidly within sight of the portal for hours.

State Mine Inspector John G. Jones was the last of the rescue party to come out. He said he felt sure the night shift would come upon bodies tonight. He explained that the terrific force of the explosion and the direction it took, made it almost certain the pick men were dead.

PATHETIC INCIDENT.

A pathetic incident came to light today when a messenger was sent to the office of Anton Lysczar, in Poland, that he probably had been killed in the explosion.

Mrs. Lysczar was about to start for America to join her husband. He had come to America two years ago to make a home for his family and three months ago, after many discouragements, got together enough money to pay the passage.

All preparations had been made for the start when Lysczar was badly injured in a gun accident and his wife refused to sell the tickets that he might have proper medical attention. As soon as he recovered he again began to save and the passage money was sent to Poland a second time but a few days ago.

FORMER GOVERNOR TAKES ASSOCIATE JUSTICE OATH.

U. S. SUPREME COURT MEETS AND ADJOURS.

HARLAN EULOGIZES THE LATE CHIEF JUSTICE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON. Oct. 10.—Ceremonies marking the advent of a new judge of the law and the decision of a former Justice who had been before him constituted today the solemn business of the Supreme Court of the United States. Charles E. Hughes of New York donned the robes of office as an Associate Justice with all the formalities designed to give dignity to the court and then with a few words of sorrow expressed by the senior Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan, the celebrated author of the three decisions out of respect to the memory of the late Chief Justice Melvin W. Fuller. The little courtroom was crowded. Conspicuous among the spectators were the mother, the wife and the daughter of the deceased.

NEW JUSTICE TAKES OATH.

The administration of the oath to the new Justice consumed but a few minutes. Then Justice Harlan announced the death of the Chief Justice and spoke of his distinguished service to the country. He concluded with the remark that the memory of his famous chief would "ever remain as a priceless heritage to his countrymen." Eight minutes after convening the court adjourned.

Not in years had the opening day of the Supreme Court of the United States arrived with barely a quorum of Justices ready to go on the bench until today.

The death of Chief Justice Fuller left the court without a permanent head, while the passing away of Justice Brewer and the illness of Justice Moody, whose resignation becomes effective November 20, reduced the active membership to six.

SEATING IS CHANGED.

One noticeable result was the change in the seating arrangement of the Justices. The seat occupied by Justice Harlan, the senior member of the court, to move from the place of honor he had occupied for years at the right of Justice Fuller to the seat of the late Chief Justice in recognition of his having become temporarily the presiding officer of the court.

The seats of the other members were occupied by Justice White, who was assigned to the seat to the right of the presiding Justice, and Justice McKenna to the left. Still farther to the right sat Justice Harlan, while on the other side were chairs for Justices Day and Lurton. Next to Justice Holmes was a vacant chair for Justice Moody, and on the extreme right was the seat of Justice E. Hughes. This arrangement was designed to be effective until a new Chief Justice is appointed, at least.

MANY CASES ON DOCKET.

Although nearly 100 cases on the docket were the number probably in the history of the court at the opening of a term, the programme for the day was limited because of the unusual circumstances. Mr. Justice Harlan, the President of the United States, had in his opinion that the court would have adjourned to pay its respects to him. This left the day to be devoted exclusively to the ceremonial proceedings, swearing in of Justice Hughes and the funeral of the death of Chief Justice Fuller. Tomorrow the court will begin in earnest the work of the year.

Pacific Mail Official's Wife Amends Declaration of Dutiable Apparel in Nick of Time.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Remi P. Schwerin, prominent socially in New York, Baltimore and San Francisco, wife of the vice-president and general manager of the American Tobacco Company, escaped having a charge of smuggling placed against her by franking in answering questions put to her by the U. S. Postmaster. She discovered that on landing Saturday night from the steamer St. Paul, she had failed to declare all the dutiable goods brought home in her seven trunks.

In her original declaration, Mrs. Schwerin mentioned new gowns to the value of $600. In going through her effects the inspector found articles not declared.

Mrs. Schwerin was given an opportunity to acknowledge that some items bought abroad might have been omitted, but that there had been no intent to evade the payment of duty.

A careful examination was made of her baggage, and her original declaration was raised by $1400. This was paid and the baggage was released.

Battler Comes Back Strong in His First Appearance in the Ring Since Last Winter.—Looks to Be in Best Condition in Three Years.—Sponge Thrown Up.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10.—In his first fight since Ad Wolpert stripped him of his championship laurels last February, Battling Nelson tonight won from Monte Dale of Denver, after three rounds of fighting.

Under the decree of expulsion all the Jesuits' property reverts to the State. The property of the other religious communities will be sealed and disposed of later.

The Jesuits have enormous quantities of land and in addition, gold and silver church ornaments, vestments, chalices, studded with precious stones, and valuable cellars of old wines.

It is reported the Irish Dominican friars and nuns, possessing a church and convent here, will be exempted.

No masses were celebrated in Lisbon Sunday in any church except that of the Dominican Fathers, over which the British Missions hosts.

Gen. Pedro Pinto, one of the few monarchial leaders who took an active share in attempting to suppress the revolutionary movement, has been liberated upon promising that he would do nothing to disturb the republic.

There was not a moment throughout the fight when Nelson appeared tired. He was up on his feet and appeared tireless, always with great force and in all angles with great force.

After the battle Nelsons announced that he had agreed to fight "One Round" in San Francisco ten rounds.

Dale, who had been beaten, did not stop on the scales. It is said he weighed about 125.

"The Battler" was given a round resounding when he came to the ring. He was tanned and appeared more rugged than he had at any time in the last three years.

Federal Court Upholds Recommendation of Master in Chancery. Who Increases Lumber Tariff.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.), Oct. 10.—Judges Samuel Hoyt, Vinton and Adolphus in the United States Circuit Court upheld today the findings of Master in Chancery F. N. Dickson in the suit brought by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and Union Pacific railroads to enjoin the Interstate Commerce Commission from enforcing the reduction in rates from Portland to St. Paul.

All exceptions on both sides were overruled. The action of the court is a victory for the railroads.

The rate number from Portland to St. Paul was raised from forty to fifty cents per hundredweight by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the master recommended a forty-five cent rate. A sixty-cent rate from Portland to Chicago was cut to forty-five cents by the Commission. A seventy-five cent rate was restored by the master.

"I expect the roads will leave the market in a month's time and for a great new water system, which I consider one of the most remarkable engineering features of the time," said the master.

HOLDS SECRET. ONE SUSPECT KEPT IN DARK.

DELICATELY QUESTIONED FOR CLEW TO FIENDS.

POLICE BELIEVE HE HAS KEY TO DYNAMITING.

PALS WITH HIM DECLARED TO BE MEN WANTED.

The police are firm in their belief that B. H. Conners, a union laborer, arrested in connection with dynamites made to blow up the Hall of Records on the night of August 11, knows the identity of the man who dynamited the Times building.

Conners was questioned yesterday afternoon as to his whereabouts on several days and nights preceding the attempt on the Hall of Records, but nothing was said which could lead him to suspect that the police believe he knows the man implicated in the dynamiting of the Times building.

Conners himself cannot be connected with any phase of the Times horror, the police say, because he was locked in the City Jail on August 11 and had not been out since. He has been held incommunicado by the police to keep him entirely away from other unionites until his case is brought into court.

The points on which the police base their belief that Conners knows the dynamiters are that he is in touch with them; he was found at the Hall of Records shortly after the dynamite was placed there; that he was formerly a miner and knows how explosives should be handled; that after he had been locked up in the city jail, a short piece of dynamite similar to the one which found its way to the Hall of Records was found in his cell; having been overlocked by the officers who searched him before he was locked up; and finally, that he is a desperado man.

PALS WERE THE FIENDS.

The police firmly believe that the three men who were with Conners are the ones who blew up the Times building. If they are Conners' pals to divulge their names, the search for the fiends will be centered on men whose habits are known. As these men are believed to be miners, it would be among that class of men the police would look.

The only possible connection, the police state, that Conners could have had with the Times tragedy was a knowledge of the plans before the explosive was placed in the building. It is also thought in the explosion he would have had if not locked up, the police do not presume to say.

It is necessary for an explosive of greater power than was set off to be used after the attempt failed at the Hall of Records, another opinion of the police holds. In this connection, it is thought, Conners' pals to divulge their names for the search for the fiends will be centered on men whose habits are known. As these men are believed to be miners, it would be among that class of men the police would look.

The police believe that the order for the greater explosive was not determined upon until after the attempt failed at the Hall of Records, another opinion of the police holds. In this connection, it is thought, Conners' pals to divulge their names for the search for the fiends will be centered on men whose habits are known. As these men are believed to be miners, it would be among that class of men the police would look.

The police believe that the order for the greater explosive was not determined upon until after the attempt failed at the Hall of Records, another opinion of the police holds. In this connection, it is thought, Conners' pals to divulge their names for the search for the fiends will be centered on men whose habits are known. As these men are believed to be miners, it would be among that class of men the police would look.

EVIDENCE IS CLEAR.

Chief Detective Brown of the Detective Bureau, yesterday, declared that a "tantalizing" committee he has been made against the persons who purchased the dynamite which was found under the Zephaniah house.

"These men are taken in custody, they will not have one chance in a million to escape being punished," he declared. "I have a more complete case. Each detail has been worked out to a nicely which can only be appreciated by a long-experienced officer in law."

Brown has just returned from a trip to San Francisco, where he put in a week tracing the dynamiters. He was unable to find the case closed shortly after the catastrophe. He was instructed by Dist.-Atty. Fredricks to get busy, and he is following orders.

He is a "no-nonsense" type, and makes no comments without hearing of the jitters on unionite trouble.

VICIOUS AGITATORS.

KANSAS CITY MAN HERE.

The police are still holding the "tantalizing" committee, which they believe will aid in the capture of the dynamiters. Though some of them are readily seen to be villains, they are investigated that no step may be left unopened.

A man who said he was formerly a citizen of Kansas City, notified the police yesterday afternoon that he had been forced to join the union in order to prevent his store being boycotted by the union and that at all times the man whom he had seen recently in Los Angeles was the leading vicious agitator.

The detective received a telegram from the man, a native of Kansas City, New York, reading that he had been held in the capture of the dynamiters. Though some of them are readily seen to be villains, they are investigated that no step may be left unopened.

Live Doings in the Field of Sports.

GRAND CIRCUIT.
JOAN BREAKS HER RECORD.
DEFEATS GOOD FIELD WHEN SHE WINS STAKE.

TRANSYLVANIA FEATURE OF LEXINGTON RACES.

GRACE IS FIRST IN STALLION CHAMPIONSHIP EVENT.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.
LEXINGTON (Ky.) Oct. 10.—Joan, the property of Capt. David Shaw of Cleveland, won the Transylvania stakes, the $5000 feature of the Grand Circuit races, here today, in straight heats, in the first of which she broke the world's record for 4-year-old trotting filies, going the mile in 2:05 2/5. She was beaten by three lengths over her record made at Columbus a week ago.

Grace, also owned by Capt. Shaw, was the champion stallion stakes, won the $4400 feature.

W. E. Stokoe, breeder of her sire, Peter the Great, was awarded a $250 silver cup.

The 10-furlong trot went to Soprano, Edwina and Joann, Miss Anna's mare, which won the last three heats.

Joan defeated the best field of the year, including Dudsie Archdale and Billy Burke. Miss Anna, a well-known amateur, who asked me to speak with him, Billy was a tough nut, and I suffered severely at his hands on many occasions; but though he acted like a true sportsman, he was also acquainted with the art of boxing and imbued me with a love of the sport which has increased with the years.

It is said that at one athletic display in the north of London the master of the ceremonies distinguished himself.

He was a prosperous tradesman and a generous patron of the club which was giving the display, and it was in recognition of his generosity rather than any knowledge of the sport that he was requested to act as M.C.

Still, he was undoubtedly very anxious to fulfill his duty to everyone, and he observed that the most important item on the programme was a big wrestling match for the championship of the district, but however, the blow did not seem to hit him.

Jack Jackson, the referee, started the best of friends after the fight. "Good night, Paddy," said Jackson. "There can't be two winners, but good luck to you."

Johnstone, however, who had been called together at the club to receive their respective shares of the purse, the sequel to Jackson's anxiety to divide the money, and right away the latter dropped down to his knees.

It was Jackson's opportunity, but instead of seizing it he turned inquiringly to the referee.

RIVALS—YET FRIENDS.

"Fight on!" came the verdict, for experience had repeatedly shown that there is no better way left in a big man, even when he appears disabled.

So Jackson, with a regretful "I must then," gave the Australian a series of hard, and right hooks, until the latter dropped down to his knees.

It was Jackson's opportunity, but instead of seizing it he turned inquiringly to the referee.

RIVALS—YET FRIENDS.

Now all informed he became on the subject may be judged from his announcement. "Ladies and gentlemen," said he, "the next item which I have the honor to announce is a great contest for the 10-stone wrestling championship of the district. Tom Jackson and Bill Smith. They will wrestle in the catch-as-catch-can style, and the first bout will last 15 minutes, and the second 10 minutes. The winner will be the one who wins four bouts, and the pennant of honour upon it that he had destroyed. For he called round to receive the $250 in bank notes on the following morning:

SPORTING CLUB NIGHTS.

Personal Reminiscences of Mr. Eugene Corri, Who Has for Many Years Refereed All Big Fights at National Sporting Club.

(From the London Saturday Journal.)

It would be useless for me to attempt to say exactly how many boxing contests I have refereed at the National Sporting Club and elsewhere, for the simple reason that I haven't the faintest idea. I dare say there were over a thousand, however, because I have been refereeing for fully twenty-five years, and during that time the number of fights I have never missed the chance of seeing a good contest if I possibly could have been present.

Still, the number is not particularly large, for I have been interested in those fights—and that, probably, is why I remember the outstanding fights and forget the others.

MEXICAN LINE'S PROFITS GROW.

NATIONAL RAILWAY'S TRACKAGE INCREASES, TOO.

EARN'S OVER TWELVE PER CENT MORE THIS YEAR.

HOW ABSORPTION HAS EXPANDED ROAD'S HOLDINGS.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 7.—With earnings of the National Railways of Mexico footings up to $5,785,416, Mexican silver, for the month of September, the total earnings for the last twelve months, ending with September 30, are $71,765,107, nearly 32 per cent over the total for the twelve months ended September 30, 1909, when the record was $50,940,441.

Average monthly earnings for the last twelve months have been $5,666,481. The following tabulation shows in Mexican currency, approximately one-half the value of gold, earnings and increase per cent by months for the last twelve months over corresponding periods in the year preceding:

	For cast.
Monish of October	$5,440,112 15
November	5,693,429 18.2
December	5,764,360 8.7
Year, 1910
January	5,762,999 8.7
February	5,647,656 11.0
March	5,600,344 10.9
April	5,649,538 14.7
May	5,638,350 8.6
June	5,671,652 16.4
July	6,003,363 15.4
August	5,898,332 11.4
September	5,786,416 14.8
Monthly Average	$5,666,481 12.4
TOTAL	$71,765,107 12.4

One year ago in September the National Railways of Mexico had a total mileage of 7062 in operation. Now the merger lines have 7905 miles in operation. This increase is due to the taking over of the Mexican Southern 292 miles and the lease and the assumption of the operations management of the Vera Cruz at Veracruz 200 miles, and the Pan-American, 266 miles, as shown in the following comparative statement for a year ago, six months ago and the present:

	Sept. 30, 1909	Sept. 30, 1910
Owned and leased	482 425	529 329
Losed and operated	721 102	829 102
Operated only	521 521	521 521
Total in operation	724 724	7905 7905

Thus it is shown that the earnings of September 1910 are 14.6 per cent in advance of that month of 1909, and the number in operation in September of this year is 11.8 per cent more than the mileage in operation in September of last year.

THE NEW PARTNERS

Imperial Valley has the peculiar distinction of complete change in the pastors of its Methodist churches at the session of the Southern California annual conference last week. The Methodist Association of St. Louis through its secretary, Oliver B. Root, who adds:

"The members of this association with whom I have spoken are unanimous in their praise of your splendid ministry. In the entire country, not only against The Times but against the undulated fashions which made to bring the perpetrators of this outrage to justice."

FEARLESS ATTITUDE.

"The loss you have sustained by the act of so many of your people by the act of assassins," is sympathetically referred to by the Citizens' Improvement Association of St. Louis through its secretary, Oliver B. Root, who adds:

BISHOP MCINTYRE MOURNS.

Our former fellow citizen, Bishop McIntyre of the Methodist Church, wired from St. Paul, Minn., "I read

The Times to-day with wet eyes, and am deeply grieved to learn that the boy securing the most members will receive a prize. On Friday evening we will be shuttling between

two platoons."

The two squads will go into camp and two others, by means of scouts will endeavor to locate and capture the first.

North Garey avenue is recovering from an attack of vertigo which nearly resulted in his death. He was watering his lawn when he fell, face downward in the water which had filled a depression and was pouring over his head and shoulders from the house. First he lay unconscious, the fallen man. He was picked up and resuscitated at his home.

J. R. McAllister, who was thrown from a carriage at the Southern Pacific station, just holding two others, by means of scouts received silver and bronze medals for good attendance at San Pedro School and weekly brigade drills.

C. E. Edwards, a student at Carlisle and Alvin Lawrence are conducting a membership contest and the boy securing the most members will receive a prize. On Friday even-

two platoons."

Los Angeles Times, J. S. Raymond, Ave.
PASADENA, Oct. 11.—A number of prominent business men and bankers gathered in the Hotel Maryland last night for the purpose of promulgating plans and means for financing the coming Tournament of Roses. Mayor Hickey presided. A motion was made that the chairman appoint a committee of three from the Board of Trade, three from the Merchants' Association and two from the Tournament of Roses Association, which shall call a public meeting for the purpose of making the next tournament a success.

H. W. Magee, under the suggestion that the city should make a contribution, was taken into consideration.

Natural at the Soldiers' Home
Last Week.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Oct. 10.—Two deaths of a violent character within three days are added to mortality's record at the Home last week. Joseph Boob, 72, formerly of Co. A, Fifth Missouri State Militia Cavalry, was found dead in bed yesterday morning with his throat cut from ear to ear. The cause of death is unknown. "I think all the surgeons will be in favor of such a death," said Dr. F. C. Adams, physician to the Home. "We all get much pleasure from our work here. Long hours and other places do this sort of thing and Pasadena should."

Short addresses were made by George P. Cary, Frank G. Hogan, D.
Linnard, W. S. Wright, J. B. Coulton, and Dr. F. C. Adams.

All agreed that the next Tournament

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Park Commission is planning extensive improvements, and has its funds in such shape that it can go ahead.

AT THE CITY HALL PLANS LARGE IMPROVEMENTS.

COMMISSION SYSTEMATIZES ITS BUSINESS.

Handsome Japanese Garden After That in Golden Gate Park Being Considered—Fire Commission at Special Meeting Postpones Action on the Alarm System.

The Park Commission, having systematized its accounts, and determined just how much money shall be spent for maintenance and improvements, has itself in possession of a pretty fair fund for betterments, during the next nine months.

In allotting men to the parks, careful measurements have been made of the amount of space devoted to lawn, walks, to flowers, etc., and men will be assigned to all the parks along this line. It is also under consideration means, it has been determined that one man can care for three acres of flat lawn, or two acres of terraced lawn, and one of the results of the new arrangement will be to cut Westlake Park down to nine men, while there are now ten employed, and all there will be a considerable decrease in the total number of men employed, and a cutting down of the annual expense for labor, in all directions, leaving a balance of $15,000 for improvements.

One of the most notable improvements in contemplation is the construction of a Japanese garden in either Eastlake or Sycamore Park. M. Nagiwa, architect of the famous gardens in the Golden Gate Park, upon whom the commission has engaged, with designs and specifications, but before any definite step will be taken he will view the ground with members of the commission. There will be accompanied by M. Koto of this city, who will also bid on the work.

FIRE COMMISSION.

POLICE AND FIRE TELEGRAPH. Commissioner Owen of the Fire Commission and board called a special session yesterday, to hear his report on the proposed extension of the police and fire telegraph service. He made no explicit announcement, but said, that is going upon as an effort to re-ascend the expensive Gamewell system, and sidetrack further extension of the system, although the special brand of the charity to be exercised was not mentioned.

It was also declared in the codicil that if the husband of Mrs. Winn died before the time of her marriage, it would be to go to her for her own use and disposition, it being very plain that she was not enamored of his brother.

The case came up in the Probate Court yesterday on the petition for the admission of the will to probate and the sealing of letters testamentary. It was announced in court that the contest of the codicil had been temporarily abandoned, but that it was necessary to have some one appointed immediately to settle the testate body of Christy and his sister by the terms of which Christy was to pay all his property to his wife. The affidavit of his wife, it is asserted by the relatives, took position that Christy had given his diamond ring worth about $700, and so far failed to return the property to the sister of his wife. The temporary order was issued by Judge Bordwell.

The defendants in the three actions are the same, and include Mayor Alexander, the members of the City Council, Chief of Police Galloway, City Clerk Leeland, and City Tax Collector Taggart.

Some time ago similar suits were brought by several banks against the city and the cases were tried in Department Five, an amicable arrangement being agreed to under the provisions of which the city was only to assess the tax on new deposits. This was in harmony with the views of the legal representatives of the city, and the banks assented to the arrangement. Then the ordinance was amended, as to meet some of the objections of the banks, but it is still antagonistic, it is alleged, to the banking interests.

The continuance was granted on motion of the attorneys for the Thompsons, who declared they had not been able to complete their preparation for the trial. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are charged with receiving $15,000 from Orlando F. Altorre. Altorre was arrested, and the authorities authorities a short time ago on a charge of stealing that amount in the postoffice. The Thompsons are out on bail. The Thompsons are out on bail.

BANKS WANT ORDINANCE TO BE DECLARED VOID.

Allege, As Amended, It Is Still Antagonistic to Their Interests, and Payment Under It Will Be Resisted—Court Issues Temporary Restraining Order.

The legality of the bank taxation ordinance adopted by the City Council August 23, is again to be tested in the local courts.

Complaints were filed yesterday in the Superior Court by the Southern Trust Company, The Security Savings Bank and the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank to have the ordinance declared null and void, and the city restrained from enforcing its provisions either by civil process, arrest or otherwise. The temporary order was issued by Judge Bordwell.

Manning and Pridham withdrew from any participation in the transaction, after the company refused to pay the tribute of Supervisor McCabe.

The original suit by the furniture company was $247,700. It was settled with the understanding that the officials might cut out any articles they desired to eliminate.

The original suit by the furniture company was $247,700. It was settled with the understanding that the officials might cut out any articles they desired to eliminate.

Eldridge, McCabe and Nellis concluded this work with the result that the city was to be liable to the company for the amount of $15,000.

The defendants in the three actions are the same, and include Mayor Alexander, the members of the City Council, Chief of Police Galloway, City Clerk Leeland, and City Tax Collector Taggart.

Some time ago similar suits were brought by several banks against the city and the cases were tried in Department Five, an amicable arrangement being agreed to under the provisions of which the city was only to assess the tax on new deposits. This was in harmony with the views of the legal representatives of the city, and the banks assented to the arrangement. Then the ordinance was amended, as to meet some of the objections of the banks, but it is still antagonistic, it is alleged, to the banking interests.

Al Lawrence, who has various titles among from "Wizard of Joy" to "The Man with the Amazing Face," was seen yesterday afternoon at the Orpheum bill which opened at the Los Angeles theater yesterday afternoon. Lawrence depends upon no makeup or anything else in his line of "prop" to get him off the stage. His delivery is good humor with his fast method of delivering his material and a personality that makes even the footlights and shades laugh with him. Lawrence is a genuine funmaker, and the best comedian that has been seen at the Los Angeles.

"Our New Minister," a quaint comedy of New England life, written principally by Damon Thompson, was seen yesterday afternoon at the Auditorium stage last night. The company will remain at the Auditorium through Saturday.

The Belasco theater commenced its second week of "Fifty Miles From Boston" last evening, and the collection of Cohan songs, specialties, dances and comedy scenes was swiftly "put over" by that aggregation of musical-comedy experts which includes Charley Dyer, George Field, Jessie Tannahill, Nellie Mongomery, Adele Farren and Eve Kelly.

Next Monday night Eleanor Gordon will debut in Zira.

Everything in the way of songs is new at Levy's. Carl Chanter, a modern comedian, is making his debut this week. No one need complain of the classical, as there are many new numbers, and some old favorites, following on after the other in a kaleidoscopic vocal procession.

Lillian Lillian stands at the head of the Levy galaxy. Her rendition of "Bring 'em On" and "Lied" has been equalled here.

The Fasano trio of equilibrists in human member displays unusual skill as a hand balancer, and an amusing series of motion pictures complete a program well up to the standard of Duran and Conidine above.

Let us coolly consider the merits and demerits of the show put up by the manager this week. There is much to be said on both sides—so much that it is hard to decide in favor of either.

The critic (whose vocabulary is, for the most part, comprised of words descriptive and severe) finds himself in the unique position of being unable to compliment the manager, and yet unable to find the drab of his theatrical routine.

He has no words with which to express his novel emotions, what he says necessarily sounds tame and insufficient.

Let these lofty remarks act as an introduction to a brief but sincere commendation of the entertainment offered at Pantages theater this week. The "Six Musical Spillers" do some hot-tempered spilling of tons of sensations. They're the real cold goods.

Tutor Cameron and Bonnie Gaylord did an amusing skit in a most commendable manner; and Chester Jones, two well-dressed jads, do rough-and-tumble dancing that make all the heat with the heat. It is unfortunate, though, that they deem themselves under any obligation to the audience. They are not songsters, Terese.

The four Regals do a picturesque (and dental) act, beautifully timed and with unusually fine mimicry and stage traps.

Henry Blake is entertaining without particularly good. Her voice is not what it should be, and her imitations fall far from being completely satisfactory; but she assumes tamely enough the rôle of an innocent young maid who discreetly hides behind the name of Paris Green. The young picture is a good improvement which pictorially sets forth the moral that married ladies find it more comfortable and con-

A BROTHER
AMID TEARS
TRIBUTE PAID.

MANY SOB AT MEMORIAL OF
J. WESLEY REAVES.

PASTOR EXALTS HIS CHRISTIAN LIFE AND WORK.

DID MANFULLY HIS DAY'S LA-BOR FOR CHURCH.

The life and character of J. Wesley Reaves, private secretary to Harry Chandler, assistant general manager of the Times, one of the martyrs of the Times Building holocaust, were extolled by men who knew and loved him at the Boyle Heights M. E. Church on Sunday night. The services were largely attended, and as the speakers told of the unselfish work and zeal of Mr. Reaves, and the murderous deed that had cut him and many others down at their post of duty, eyes filled with tears.

They were all his friends in the church. They had labored at his side on the official board, in the work of the Epworth League, the Men's Brotherhood, the Bible Institute and the Sunday School room; and as tribute was paid to his indefatigable labors, his sense of duty, his modesty and unfailing kindness and cheerfulness, sobs were heard.

The church of Mr. Reaves' favorite hymns and tears flowed afresh. The flowers that he loved adorned the room. Everything bespoke the Christian spirit that had died, and the horror of his fate filled every breast.

Rev. Dana Bartlett, Rev. L. G. Heymside, Dr. William B. Hart, Dr. L. Cleveland, Mrs. L. Wolff and Charles Vassar were present as representatives of various branches of religious work and to speak a few words for the co-worker who had departed.

PASTOR'S FEELING WORDS.

Dr. Thorne's text was, "O Death, Where is Thy Sting?" Cor. 15-10. He said: "At this hour it would seem as if was sunlight, strength and cheer.

"At this hour it would seem as if these words were not true. And at this hour these words are not true. This death in the midst of life does sting. Wesley Reaves was a young man. His day was just in morning. He was a good man, a useful man, a man whose shoulders his little world was leaning to lean upon. He was needed in his home, the shadows or age and wasting illness were over the roof that sheltered him and his daily presence was sunlight, strength and cheer.

"We should be glad to learn the call that came to him and a score of brave fellows more was the summons of a disaster, we fear it was the blast and mordow of a crime.

"We should be grieved and pray for liberty to work vengeance with the thought that it was needless and a greater calamity to the hands and heart that wrought it than any other. Our Christian civilization robes itself in black and sits in ashes this day that its children should even dream of such a death. That could not be imagined so fastidiously a thing as doing God service and the brotherhood of man a kindness is but an added shame and horror. Surely it is not true there is no sting in death this day. The poison burns and sickens in our veins and we know better.

"Thinking that this is the lesson of the past, a day is coming when death in every horrid form shall lose its sting and every grave its victory.

"When this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall he brought to pass this saying that is written. Until that hour we have joy in the world, but not perfect joy, but it is in company with the sting.

"It is no friend of his kind who will say that to any man, however pious and godly, his pain and death are not real and pitiful. The strength of the Book of Books is that it is true to facts. A wondrous day is near when there shall be no sting in death, but we must wait its morning. After the sleep, beyond the change, with the sound of the mighty trumpet dead upon our ears, the everlasting life will draw forever the poison and the sting of death.

"There has no sorrows that Heaven cannot heal, but it is the service of life to trust and carry.

"Meanwhile, how great the comfort of those who wait upon the Lord. The memory of Wesley Reaves will long be green upon the earth. He was a good man and brother. He was reliable in business, intelligent, dependable in the affairs of the church, he did manfully his day's work. He was Secretary of the Official Board of this church and his records could be trusted. As a Christian, his testimony was bright; his life was consistent; his example was good to follow, and his end was peaceful.

"At an hour when he thought not, in the shadows of the midnight, by hands unbidden, he was hurried from life to meet with God. But to meet with God with Wesley Reaves was to find a friend, and he is now forever safe in the Eternal keeping."

IN FULLERTON FIELD.

FULLERTON, Oct. 10.—The Industrial Oil Company of Olinda is putting down a new well, No. 28, which began to flow last week. It is estimated that there will be a strong flow from this well. It is over 2400 feet deep. The drilling has ceased work upon it and time has been commenced to drill another, No. 46, in the same field.

The Puente Oil Company has laid off all of its men except the pumping crew and they are pumping from twenty-five wells which are furnishing a satisfactory yield.

The Petroleum Development Company (the Santa Fe's organization) is installing a new electrical lighting system. The company has installed a three-cylinder Fairbanks-Morse vertical engine of the marine type and a condenser pump which will carry 4600 watts which will be stepped up to 220 by the transformer. The Puente Company, the Columbia Oil Company and the Petroleum Development Company all now have their own private telephone systems, having installed them recently.

Defending a Good Name

Since 1875 we have been making Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate, and we have been making it so good that it enjoys today greater sales than all similar products combined throughout the West.

Because of this success, the imitators of our product call their preparations "Ground Chocolate" also.

We are very proud of the good reputation of our "Ground Chocolate," and don't want anyone to form an opinion of our famous product from some imitation which might be sent to them by mistake.

We therefore ask that in buying "Ground Chocolate" you read the label to see that it bears the name of "Ghirardelli." Then you will know that you are getting the kind that everyone enjoys so much. As it is the most economical beverage preparation on the market, it is worth insisting upon for the sake full value for your money.

REJOICING IN SAN FRANCISCO OVER THE DIABOLICAL CRIME.

Expressions of Satisfaction From Labor-Unions Warriors in the Union-Ridden City—Resolutions and Offers of Rewards Only to Cover Up the Tracks of the Conspirators—Return of Richard Cornelius After a Significant Visit to Los Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—The Times Building and the frightful loss of human life was received by many of the militant trade unionists in this city with expressions of joy and thankfulness that "at last the Los Angeles Times and its managers have got what was coming to them."

It makes no difference how many hypocritical bulletins the union leaders may issue for publication, the fact remains that the only regret felt by the union bosses and the majority of their followers here is that it may result in injuring the cause of the unionists in Los Angeles in particular and the entire country in general.

No one here is foolish enough to believe that the union agitators are actually sorry for the terrible results of the crime perpetrated by the agents of the unionists. It is a matter of decency that the unionists have brought this published expression of regret and sympathy to hoodwink the police into believing that the unions are in no way responsible for the unions' crime. At least that is the consensus of opinion here.

Of the numerous unionists in this city whom your correspondent has heard discussing the frightful disaster, only one, a woman, has been heard to express sorrow that the frightful crime should have been committed.

Of course, many have been heard to exclaim, "Well, I am sorry that this should have occurred now, for it will put an end to the unions in Los Angeles." And there their sorrow ends.

In the other hand your correspondent has repeatedly heard prominent unionists make use of the following expressions in discussing the wrecking of the Times building: "It is too bad they did not get the higher-ups in paper." "It is too bad that we were not twice as many killed."

The most fortunate affair that I have heard of in a long time and you can tell everybody that I said so, "Of course it is too bad that the men were killed but they had no business working on a scab sheet."

It hardly seems credible that men who have been killed in their sleep could take so heartless a view of such an awful affair, but they can hardly be held entirely responsible, for their minds have been poisoned by the vicious teachings of their leaders.

Any of the rank and file of the trade unionists in this city acknowledge that the perpetrators of the crime were poor union men, but advance the argument that the employers are not to be held responsible for the treacherous of individuals in the movement, and this in view of the fact that the teachings of unionism are productive of just such scoundrels that are truly responsible for the frightful murder.

John J. Kelly, Supervisor and president of the County Call, is quoted as follows: "I am sorry that the employers are more likely to be responsible for the crime than are the unions, as the employers have practically nothing to do with the unions, while the unions had practically nothing to do with the employers."

Resolved that our members and all good citizens of San Francisco are urgently requested to demonstrate their sympathy by liberal contributions for the benefit of the innocent needy sufferers that were dependent for their support upon those whose lives were destroyed by this crime." The resolutions are signed by M. H. Robbins, Jr., president, and L. N. King, secretary.

One man writes to the M. & M. in a state of indignation. He says that he has travelled all over the world and tested many countries and many cities. After trying them all, he finally decided that the best place in the world to live is Los Angeles. "And now," he says, "I have found a place where the climate is perfect and every prospect is pleasing and everything that nature has is showered down in its finest, the unions have come in and are trying to turn this beautiful place into a hot bed of trouble and strife and anarchy."

Another man writes to the M. & M. that he wants the police to adopt the European system of surveillance. Every person who registers at a lodging house, he thinks, should be reported to the police, and a record taken of his description. He adds that he suspects some of the city policemen of being on friendly terms with the unions, and he proposes in the future to take the number of every policeman he sees talking to a union picket.

An applicant for membership in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association says: "I am not a merchant or a manufacturer, but I hate the unions for their hellish deeds, and I want to join your association, if I am eligible, because you are making a brave fight against unionism."

"The unions talk about your being unfair," writes another, whose wrath is hot. "When I should like to ask, were the unions ever fair? Consider for instance, their attempt to pass off the wrecking of the Times building as a gas explosion. They must think that the citizens of this city are blind, and not able to see what is going on around them."

An eastern business man writes to suggest that the business interests of this community band themselves together to suggest how they can "do" the unions. Perhaps it is all for the reason as while they are fighting among themselves, the employers continue to do business at the same stand and few people realize there is such a thing as an open-shop strike in San Francisco.

A little of the threats of the union leaders that they would be the ones to win when the strike goes on strike again for an increase in wage hours, the manufacturers continue to do business at the same stand and few people realize there is such a thing as an open-shop strike in San Francisco.

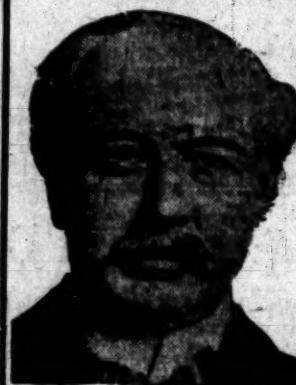

An open-shop is gaining in this city, the largest publishing plant is running on the open-shop basis and is working overtime right along. It is known that San Francisco is one of two Allied Printing Trades Unions in the world, the others are known as 100 per cent. unionists members 100 cents out of every dollar they earn to keep in the union.

Barber shops are springing up all over the city and the Barbers are having an assessment of their members to "maintain," vice-president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters

STRONG WORDS FROM THE PRESS ON THE UNIONITE OUTRAGES.

BLOW AT FREE GOVERNMENT.

No man, not himself criminal in practice or intent, can withhold from the Los Angeles Times the honest and sincere sympathy for the loss it has suffered through an unexampled atrocity—loss great in terms of money, but far greater in terms of human life and human suffering.

No man, not an anarchist in practice or at heart, can keep himself from wrath against the authors of the atrocity or from the hope that they will quickly and surely brought to justice.

Proximately and primarily the loss by the Times is the immediate injury to those who were robbed of life or crippled in usefulness and in the capacity of enjoying their lives—to those who were the victims of crime left to ravage and corrode inconsiderately. But the greater injury, the larger outrage is to and upon organized society. The explosion that wrecked the Times' plant and injured many of its staff shook the foundations of a free government and sent a quiver through the fabric of our institutions.

It is not publish or not print, assassination apparently to find and sternly to punish the perpetrators of this villainy. The cowardly, savage blow struck at the property of the Times and the persons of its managers and employees.

The Times is the vital organ of the state—the state in its broader, national sense. It is the State's concern to vindicate itself, and its institutions, and to avenge the outrage committed upon it.

It was a hellish criminality that stalked its prey that Friday night in Los Angeles, crouched in the shadows and struck swiftly away from the light and the well-known paths of hostial savagery, all the more fearsome for its intelligence, its inhumanity, cunning. It was the very spirit of anarchist terrorism, of mindless, senseless evil, investigated. [San Francisco Chronicle.]

Few Tragedies So Shocking.

The newspaper history of the country records few tragedies so shocking as the destruction by explosion and fire of the building occupied by the publication office of the Los Angeles Times. The fighting qualities of both the publisher and his chief proprietor and editor of the Times, have won a vast admiration throughout the United States. The Times is a newspaper as distinctive in character as it is in its influence. The name of General Harrison Gray Otis and his corps of brilliant workers may be assured of the sympathy of thousands in every subdivision of the country who will be profoundly moved by this terrible disaster involving not only great material damage but lamentable loss of life. [St. Louis Republic.]

Most Grievous.

The destruction by dynamite and fire of the Los Angeles Times is one of the most grievous things in western history, having its parallel only in the reign of terror produced throughout the African colonies by the French and by Harry O'Farrell when they were blowing up shacks and assassinating governors.

There seems to be no doubt that dynamite was used in the Times plant. No other theory fits the circumstances. The institution was the victim of its enemies.

The city of Los Angeles is determined to discover the miscreants, and it is announced by the owners of the Times and by other large employers there that they fight "industrious freedom" will be carried on with greater vigor than ever.

"Free America, what tragedies are committed in thy name!" [Tacoma News.]

Work of a Gang.

Enough has been disclosed to show that the dynamiting horror was the work of a considerable gang of blood-thirsty conspirators. There was some talk of a plot to begin with some of the friends had scientific knowledge of the nature of explosives, and of the manufacture of "infernal machines" in purchasing the dynamite they spent a lot of time, but their attempts to cover their tracks were clumsy. Enough is known to establish without a doubt that further destruction was planned than that which resulted. Who could have done such deadly work? What agency does every thought turn to? [Alameda Argus.]

Was Dynamically Planned.

Dynamite and fire snuffed out the lives of a score of men and reduced to ashes over one million dollars worth of property by the dastardly outrage perpetrated at Los Angeles on Saturday morning. The awful deed was the work of human hands there seems to be no doubt, and that the plot was hatched by men whose hatred of the Times, the reason of that paper's attitude toward the labor unions, seems to be the general opinion. It was planned with diabolical ingenuity and careful conspiracy, and there is no punishment that seems fit for the fiendish and the awful deed. [Fullerton News.]

The Most Fiendish Deed.

Nowhere in the history of American labor troubles, save in the case of the Homestead strike and the Coal and C. A. strike, can one find anything quite so fiendish as is the deed ascribed by the owners of the Los Angeles Times. The public opinion of the ranks, or among the camp followers of organized labor. On Friday night a score or more people employees of the Times were blown to atoms at half a billion dollars destroyed following an explosion that wrecked the building.

For twenty years the Los Angeles Times has been an unexampled tool of the class shop, its owner, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, has been one-half of a dozen of men who have constituted the backbone of an anti-union movement which has never been equalled. Gen. Otis and his associates have openly acted on the belief that labor unions should be destroyed. Their campaign has been a success, and they have hit wherever they saw an opening and hit hard. Small wonder that they have made enemies in the ranks of organized labor. If there ever was a more diabolical and swift and terrible punishment of guilty, it is this one. [Louisville Herald.]

The People Want Action.

The recent dynamiting at Los Angeles furnishes a large element of our population a splendid opportunity to regain much of the public confidence they have lost through similar experiences. The country is sick of the same old story, many times by similar outrages in connection with labor troubles.

It has listened to denunciations from leaders of labor organizations and, in many instances, doubts that are sincere. But the time is ripe for something more than words. The people want action, they demand action. It is not sufficient for one organization to assume the responsibility of another. It behooves the leaders of all to get busy and do it quick. More than this, it behooves the members of these organizations who oppose these things to keep out of their membership those who condone them. They are now more than enough to do it and they can. Certain labor unions, including the Typographical Union, the Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railway Conductors and others have done much in this direction. They have it in their power to do more, and the opportunity is before them. [Goldfield Tribune.]

Work of Anarchistic Enemies.

The country stands aghast at the news of the wrecking of the great newspaper plant of the Los Angeles Daily Times, and though in the language of its editor, Mr. Otis, "The Times still lives," it will be many a day before the fearful story of the ruin is forgotten; and especially so it shall stand in the record of the work of the paper's anarchist enemies.

The Times stood practically alone in its extreme attitude toward organized labor, and was uncompromisingly and sternly to punish the perpetrators of this villainy. The cowardly, savage blow struck at the property of the Times and the persons of its managers and employees.

The Times is the vital organ of the state—the state in its broader, national sense. It is the State's concern to vindicate itself, and its institutions, and to avenge the outrage committed upon it.

It was a hellish criminality that stalked its prey that Friday night in Los Angeles, crouched in the shadows and struck swiftly away from the light and the well-known paths of hostial savagery, all the more fearsome for its intelligence, its inhumanity, cunning. It was the very spirit of anarchist terrorism, of mindless, senseless evil, investigated. [San Francisco Chronicle.]

Few Tragedies So Shocking.

The newspaper history of the country records few tragedies so shocking as the destruction by explosion and fire of the building occupied by the publication office of the Los Angeles Times.

The fighting qualities of both the publisher and his chief proprietor and editor of the Times, have won a vast admiration throughout the United States. The Times is a newspaper as distinctive in character as it is in its influence. The name of General Harrison Gray Otis and his corps of brilliant workers may be assured of the sympathy of thousands in every subdivision of the country who will be profoundly moved by this terrible disaster involving not only great material damage but lamentable loss of life. [St. Louis Republic.]

Wholesale Assassination Planned.

The unspeakable outrage perpetrated upon the Times, the newspaper of the Los Angeles Times appears in the light of further developments to have been part of a widespread plan of wholesale assassination intended to include the entire nation.

Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, the editor of the Times and the president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and their families, is in startling danger. His life is being threatened and country could be so lost to every feeling of humanity as to deliberately plan the destruction of innocent women and children. The bloodless savages of the African jungle are not the men who planned and executed this terrible deed.

All decent citizens will join in exposing the outrages committed and attempted in Los Angeles yesterday. While it is unbelievable that the destruction of the Los Angeles Times and the attempt to destroy the home of the Times were not planned or approved by any organization, it is scarcely to be doubted that the despicable crew who designed the author as a punishment of his propria-tor and a check upon his fearless advocacy of certain policies in his paper. The Times is the paper of any that sought. Wanton destruction of property and murder in cold blood are not arguments which appeal to the minds of civilized people. When they oppose them with the views of Gen. Otis on controversial questions, the overwhelming majority will applaud his defiant rejoinder to the critics of his paper.
